Maybe by week's end? A biosketch for sure, and if you could send those materials we talked about yesterday, that would be grand.
How are you feeling – are you well enough to fly?!

Good morning,

I am sorry. I was getting psyched up about the idea.

I can tell you that the effort needed for an ORI grant proposal is significantly greater than the support you get. But let's look at other options for funding – such as an NSF or NIH grant proposal – and focus on something that we could do between you and me. And I now have a budding friendship with the new head of UTSW's International Office, responsible for trainees and faculty from all over. He may be a source of information, too.

I'll be back in touch on this in a few weeks – I gotta go think about gene drives through the end of the month!

All the best,

So in the waning hours of the day, we've lost both collaborating campuses on the grant. Not lost, but they've told us they can't contribute at all to the planning or grant writing, nor, it seems, can they give us even basic information about their campuses (one Dean is out of the country; the other dealing with emergent family issues). I'm not giving up on this, but we likely won't be submitting to ORI this time around.

Thanks for all of your help, and I hope you're still willing when we finally manage to pull this together.

Hi GBIRD partners,

GES Sr. Research Scholar Dr. Todd Kuiken will join Frank Stasio for a conversation about the latest research into synthetic biology, some of the opportunities these technologies present, potential drawbacks and conversations we are or should be having about their regulation.

Here is the link for those outside the Central NC radio market. For those not in the area, Frank has keen interviewing skills – it should be good.

Hi Elizabeth,

I've been in email contact with Lucy Carter and she suggests the following two people for consideration as an Australian participant on the GBIRd Ethics Advisory Board:

- Ainsley Newson (Uni of Sydney) <http://sydney.edu.au/medicine/people/academics/profiles/ainsley.newson.php>
- Alison McLennan (Uni of Canberra) <https://www.canberra.edu.au/research/faculty-research-centres/nexus-centre-for-research/research-profiles/tabs/school-of-law/dr-alison-mclennan>

They both seem to have lots of relevant expertise and interests. Are you happy to contact them? I think Lucy knows them, so you could mention that Lucy forwarded on their names.

Lucy is happy discuss further with you if you want (cc'd above).

I look forward to meeting you next week in Washington DC.

Kind regards,

Peter.

Dear Liz,

Nancy has headed into class but asked me to let you know that those flights will work well with the itinerary here, please go ahead and book those flights.

Just confirm that those are the flights you have chosen so that I can use the flight details to make the airport transportation arrangements, the Center for Bioethics, will cover those charges at the time. I will send you directions for finding the driver and their cell number too, just in case the flights change.

If you feel uncomfortable sending your W9 by even secure email, there is the option of bringing it with you, along with the invoice for your flights.

Dear Liz,

Thank you for your flight details. I am copying Nancy as I have not seen a final version of your itinerary and want to make sure the flights agree with the itinerary.

Once I have the go ahead from Nancy I can make your transportation reservations to and from the airport. Apologies, I realized I did not make it clear in my earlier email that for your flights, Wake Forest asks that visitors make their own flight arrangements and then get reimbursed. I hope this will be acceptable for you?

I will let you know once I have been able to access your W9 via a following email.

Good morning,

After looking at the available flights from Dallas to Greensboro, I think that the easiest itinerary will be on Delta, simply because I would need to fight rush hour traffic for an hour to get to DFW for the shorter flight on AA. I have attached a pdf of the itinerary from Delta's website. Since I first looked at this itinerary the price has gone down $20! My full name is Elizabeth Heitman (please also use Elizabeth on other printed materials); My date of birth is [REDACTED]. I prefer a window seat, but am happy with the aisle. And my frequent flier number for Delta is [REDACTED] - it is possible that I will be automatically upgraded (for free) when you book the ticket. I would be very happy to accept a free upgrade!

I will send you a scan of my W9 in a separate email which the UTSW will encrypt to protect my social security number. Please let me know if you have any trouble opening it - they system can be a bit tricky... My cell phone number is [REDACTED] if you need me for anything.

Subject: Re: your visit in March

Dear Liz,

Reservations have been made at The Brookstown Inn hotel in downtown Winston-Salem. I am attaching the reservation confirmation for your information. The Center for Bioethics will be covering the cost of the hotel.

One you let me know your flight details and cell phone number I can go ahead and make a reservation for the transportation to and from the airport.

I am also attaching a W9 for completion.

best wishes,

Stephanie Reitz
